Jetstar Asia launches daily flights to Macau Promotional fares to start from $28 per way

From 2 February 2008, Jetstar Asia will commence daily flights to the exciting city of Macau! To celebrate this occasion, the airline is offering promotional fares to Macau from $28 per way (Sale from 14-18 November, travel period from 2 February to 30 June 2008).

Ms Chong Phit Lian, Jetstar Asia/Valuair's Chief Executive Officer said: "Jetstar Asia's launch of daily flights to Macau serves as a direct air link catering to the growing number of visitors from Singapore to Macau. Our expansion into new destinations and the increasing of capacity to existing destinations indicates a clear sign of growth."

Located 60km from Hong Kong and 145km from Guangzhou, Macau is one of the two special administrative regions (SARs) of People's Republic of China, the other being Hong Kong. With 442 years of Portuguese rule, Macau is the oldest European colony in the history of East Asia.

Macau has undergone remarkable changes in recent years. Testament of Macau's booming economy lies in its tourism numbers which have grown from 9.1 million visitors in 2000 to almost 22 million last year. Latest developments include the Wynn Macau, MGM Grand Macau and the upcoming Sofitel Macau at Ponte 16.

This year, the first phase of Macau's Cotai Strip opened with The Venetian Macau, a mega integrated shopping, entertainment and conventions complex. Other premier casinos and hotels, slated to open in the next two years, include the Far East Consortium Complex, Four Seasons, Galaxy Cotai Mega Resort, City of Dreams, The Mandarin Oriental and Grand Hyatt. When completed, the Cotai Strip will see a total of 19,000 guest rooms in its seven resort hotels.

Macau is also famous for her Historic Centre inscribed by UNESCO as a World Heritage Site in 2005. This includes some twenty-five historic monuments and eight public squares, such as the Ruins of Saint Paul's Cathedral, A-Ma Temple and Mount Fortress.

Ms Chong added: "Jetstar Asia is committed to growing its Pan Asia Network with Changi Airport Terminal One's excellent facilities as our hub. As we move into 2008, there will be more exciting developments in this area, including our interests and readiness to operate to Kuala Lumpur and other Malaysian cities once the rights are available. Our airline has won, for the second year running, Best Asian Low-Cost Carrier at this year's TTG Travel Awards. Terminal

One check-in, free online seat selection, pre-assigned seating, 20 kg baggage allowance, leather seats and well trained cabin crew are the airline's unique selling points preferred by our passengers. Check out www.jetstar.com/sg for our other exciting offers!"

Eng. João Manuel Costa Antunes, Director of the Macau Government Tourist Office said: "The new Jetstar route will further attract visitors from Singapore to Macau, diversify Macau's source market portfolio and strengthen connectivity between Singapore and Macau. This will result in more regional business and tourism development. We extend our open hand of friendship to visitors from Singapore and we are confident that our guests will experience our warm hospitality."
